THINGS WORTH SEEING

There is probably no other city in the country which offers such a large and varied number of outdoor amusements as Boston, all its parks and beaches being within very short distance by trolley, boat, rail or automobile. Paragon, Norumbega and Lexington Parks, all of which have their open air theatre with continuous vaudeville, operas, zoölogical gardens, restaurants, etc., etc., draw thousands of people daily.

Paragon Park, which opened for the first time this season, is by far the largest outdoor attraction in New England and its spectacular features are many and varied.

Although the theatrical season is over, there are still two or three enjoyable things at the theatres. The Colonial opened for the summer season July 17 with Klaw and Erlanger's New England superb extravaganza, "Pearl and the Pumpkin," which will run here until the fall. The Tremont Theatre is offering the new musical pastime, "Geezer of Geck." Those who prefer vaudeville will find an excellent bill at Keith's. Visitors in the city should be sure and see this theatre, as it is considered the finest in the world, and is one of the points of interest.

The baseball season is at its height, and a game may be seen either at the American or National Grounds any afternoon.

The Decorations and Paintings in the Public Library are worth a visit.

University Museum in Cambridge contains the only collection of glass models of flowers in the world.

The Summer Exhibition of the Copley Society at Copley Hall includes some very fine things in Pastel, Water Colors and Oil. There is a large portrait of Ex-President Cleveland which is worth seeing.

SHOPPING NEWS

Monday, July 31, Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are giving a discount of twenty per cent on their entire stock of Oriental rugs. Their stock is the largest in this city and comprises the following makes: Kermanshahs, Khorassans, Savalans, Indias, Khivas, Cashmeres, Gheordes, Moussouls Ganges, Kazaks, Daghestans, Shirvans, Carabagh and Hamidan rugs.

Silks, Satins and Laces are being extensively advertised by the Jordan Marsh Co., and whatever they sell is sure to be of an excellent quality.

The Antique Shop at 390 Boylston Street makes a specialty of Colonial china and furniture, and it is full of the old blue Willow pattern ware.

Huyler Chocolates are delicious and so it may be said are the boxes in which they are put. This is the place to buy the real French Bonbon box in all its airy variety.

Some particularly beautiful underwear is sold at Wm. Filene's Sons', embroidered, lace-trimmed and exquisitely fashioned in original designs. It is not very costly either, when the beauty and the elaborateness of it are considered.

Hall & Hancock's sale of Straw Hats is going on at this time and their entire line may be bought for almost incredibly low prices.

Noyes Bros. are showing some very original designs in Men's Summer Neckwear and French Hosiery.

A fascinating store to visit is that of Smith, Patterson & Co., on Summer Street. People in search of silver for wedding gifts or of jewels of any kind should certainly go there. The keynote of the place is exclusiveness.

At Macular Parker Co.'s may be found boys' complete outfits for Summer, English homespun for Norfolk suits, ready to wear or made to measure.

Some very beautiful hand embroidered parasols in all the latest colors are being shown by the E. T. Slattery Co. on Tremont Street.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

There is probably no other city in the country which offers such a large and varied number of outdoor amusements as Boston, all its parks and beaches being within very short distance by trolley, boat, rail or automobile. Paragon, Norumbega and Lexington Parks, all of which have their open air theatre with continuous vaudeville, operas, zoölogical gardens, restaurants, etc., etc., draw thousands of people daily.

Paragon Park, which opened for the first time this season, is by far the largest outdoor attraction in New England and its spectacular features are many and varied.

Klaw & Erlanger's extravaganza, "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," with many new features, is on at the Colonial Theatre for an indefinite run, and the "Geezer of Geck" is still pleasing large audiences at the Tremont Theatre.

The Grand Opera House opened for the season August 5 with "The Millionaire Detective" as the attraction.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" all this week by the Empire Stock Co. at the Empire Theatre, and Continuous Vauderville at Keith's.

Baseball all this week at the American League Grounds, Huntington Avenue.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street.

The Decorations and Paintings in the Public Library are worth a visit.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions.

University Museum in Cambridge contains the only collection of glass models of flowers in the world.

The Summer Exhibition of the Copley Society at Copley Hall includes some very fine things in Pastel, Water Colors and Oil. There is a large portrait of Ex-President Cleveland which is worth seeing.

Among other things worth seeing is the

SHOPPING NEWS

The August sale of odd lots at one-third to one-half the usual price is now in progress at Noyes Bros.

The "Picture Shop" at 65 Bromfield Street has a very beautiful line of mouldings in new designs and colors; they are not only artistic but unusual in style.

At the Macular Parker Company's everything in men's and boys' clothing and haberdashery is being offered at reduced prices during August.

A novelty in gentlemen's washable neckwear, made from a new cloth, in all the soft colorings is being shown at Josiah T. Dyer's on Boylston Street.

Monday, August 7, Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are giving a discount of twenty per cent on their entire stock of Oriental rugs. Their stock is the largest in this city and comprises the following makes: Kermanshahs, Khorassans, Savalans, Indias, Khivas, Cashmeres, Gheordes, Moussouls, Ganges, Kazaks, Daghestans, Shirvans, Carabagh and Hamidan rugs.

Any one who intends buying a new camera or is in need of photographic supplies of any kind will do well to see the complete line shown by J. H. Thurston at 50 Bromfield Street.

The R. H. White Co. are offering great sales and bargains in all departments.

A 50 per cent reduction in price on the entire line of straw hats at the Lamson & Hubbard stores.

Meyer Jonasson & Co. are making a display of new Fall Walking Suits.

Silks, Satins and Laces are being extensively advertised by the Jordan Marsh Co., and whatever they sell is sure to be of an excellent quality.

A fascinating store to visit is that of Smith, Patterson & Co., on Summer Street. People in search of silver for wedding gifts or of jewels of any kind should certainly go there. The keynote of the place is exclusiveness.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

There is probably no other city in the country which offers such a large and varied number of outdoor amusements as Boston, all its parks and beaches being within very short distance by trolley, boat, rail or automobile. Paragon, Norumbega and Lexington Parks, all of which have their open air theatre with continuous vaudeville, operas, zoölogical gardens, restaurants, etc., etc., draw thousands of people daily.

Bristol's trained horses are only one of the many free attractions offered at Paragon Park this week, but their performance alone will repay one for a trip to this Fairyland by the Sea.

Klaw & Erlanger's extravaganza, "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," with many new features, is on at the Colonial Theatre for the last week of its run, and the "Geezer of Geck" is still pleasing large audiences at the Tremont Theatre.

The Grand Opera House has "Dangers of Working Girls" for the attraction this week.

"Lost Paradise" all this week by the Empire stock company at the Empire Theatre, and Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's.

Baseball this week at the American and National Grounds.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Zonnoli, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions.

University Museum in Cambridge contains the only collection of glass models of flowers in the world.

The Summer Exhibition of the Copley Society at Copley Hall includes some very fine things in Pastel, Water Colors and Oil. There is a large portrait of Ex-President Cleveland which is worth seeing.

Among other things worth seeing is the

To GLOUCESTER and around CAPE ANN, every Tuesday and Thursday. Cars leave the corner of Portland and Hanover Streets at 9.00. "There are few places along the Atlantic coast which can duplicate the beauty in scenery on the trolley between Boston to Gloucester and around Cape Ann. The landscape is unsurpassed in its varied beauty, the hilltop views unequalled and the most healthful air that can be breathed." No change. Call or send 6c. in stamps for 10 folders describing the delightful trolley rides in Eastern Massachusetts.

SHOPPING NEWS

One-third to one-half off the regular prices on the entire line of men's fine shoes at Coes & Young's, 20 School Street, during their August sale.

The Blanchard, King Company at 250 Boylston Street are showing some new things in leather collar, cuff and shirt cases for travellers.

The August furniture sale of the R. H. White Company is the most notable event of the week in bargain giving. It is not confined to furniture alone, but includes a general line of all kinds of house furnishings for the "home beautiful." Purchases are held by them for delivery until October 1 if desired.

All lovers of antiques should visit the "Antique Shop" at 390 Boylston Street and see the finest display of banjo clocks ever shown in Boston.

Meyer Jonasson & Co. are making a display of new Fall Walking Suits.

Monday, August 14, Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. will show for the first time this season their fall importation of Oriental rugs and carpets, also the full line of the Bigelow Carpet Company's productions, and all are cordially invited to inspect this beautiful stock.

At the Macular Parker Company's everything in men's and boys' clothing and haberdashery is being offered at reduced prices during August.

Any one looking for the latest novel or books of any kind should visit the "Archway" book shop, 365 Washington Street, as their prices will appeal to you.

The pure fruit flavors used in the soda and college ices served at Klein's Pharmacy, corner Tremont and Boylston streets, is drawing large crowds daily, and the difference in quality from the ordinary kind is very noticeable.

The great August furniture sale of the Jordan Marsh Company of this city is always one of the commercial events of the year to economical house keeping. Even strangers passing through Boston make it a point to pick up a piece or two of this furniture as a souvenir of their visit.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The Tremont Theatre opened its regular fall and winter season Saturday night with George Ade's successful comedy, "The College Widow."

This comedy is one of the big New York successes of last season, and had a run of thirty-eight weeks at the Garden Theatre

The Grand Opera House has "Fighting Fate" for the attraction this week.

"Saratoga" all this week by the Empire stock company at the Empire Theatre, and Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's.

Baseball this week at the National Grounds.

There is probably no other city in the country which offers such a large and varied number of outdoor amusements as Boston, all its parks and beaches being within very short distance by trolley, boat, rail or automobile. Paragon, Norumbega and Lexington Parks, all of which have their open air theatre with continuous vaudeville, operas, zoölogical gardens, restaurants, etc., etc., draw thousands of people daily.

"Speedy," the world's champion high diver, returns to Paragon Park this week as the principal attraction in the free open air circus and no one should miss seeing this wonderful act.

Lansil's fine historic painting, The Fight of "Bon Richard," Captain Paul Jones, with the "Serapis" is one of the attractions of the Boston Artists' Exhibition in the Williams & Everett's Galleries, 190 Boylston Street.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

The Summer Exhibition of the Copley Society at Copley Hall includes some very fine things in Pastel, Water Colors and Oil. There is a large portrait of Ex-President Cleveland which is worth seeing.

Among other things worth seeing is the

SHOPPING NEWS

The great August furniture sale of the Jordan Marsh Company of this city is always one of the commercial events of the year to economical house-keeping. Even strangers passing through Boston make it a point to pick up a piece or two of this furniture as a souvenir of their visit.

A novelty in an umbrella, called the "London Club," is shown by Josiah T. Dyer at 34 Boylston Street.

Monday, August 21, Thomas O'Callaghan & Co., 30 Summer Street, are giving special prices on a new importation of Oriental rugs, which include many fine Daghestans, Shirvans and Carabaghs.

One-third to one-half off the regular prices on the entire line of men's fine shoes at Coes & Young's, 20 School Street, during their August sale.

The shops are already showing fall gowns and blouses and the E. T. Slattery Company have some very pretty plaids in quiet colors.

The August furniture sale of the R. H. White Company is the most notable event of the week in bargain giving. It is not confined to furniture alone, but includes a general line of all kinds of house furnishings for the "home beautiful." Purchases are held by them for delivery until October if desired.

All lovers of antiques should visit the "Antique Shop" at 390 Boylston Street and see the finest display of banjo clocks ever shown in Boston.

Meyer Jonasson & Co. are making a display of new Fall Walking Suits.

A place where they make a specialty of artistic designs in cut glass is at the Smith, Patterson shop on Summer Street.

At the Macular Parker Company's everything in men's and boys' clothing and haberdashery is being offered at reduced prices during August.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The Globe Theatre opens its regular fall and winter season Monday night with "Hap Ward" in "The Grafters."

"The College Widow" is on for an indefinite run at the Tremont theatre.

The Grand Opera House has "Custer's Last Fight" for the attraction this week.

"The Man from Mexico" all this week by the Empire stock company at the Empire Theatre, and Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's.

Baseball this week at the National Grounds.

There is probably no other city in the country which offers such a large and varied number of outdoor amusements as Boston, all its parks and beaches being within very short distance by trolley, boat, rail or automobile. Paragon, Norumbega and Lexington Parks, all of which have their open air theatre with continuous vaudeville, operas, zoölogical gardens, restaurants, etc., etc., draw thousands of people daily.

"Speedy," the world's champion high diver, is at Paragon Park this week as the principal attraction in the free open air circus and no one should miss seeing this wonderful act.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

Among other things worth seeing is the

TROLLEY EXCURSIONS

THROUGH CARS RESERVED SEATS

Boston to Gloucester, Long Beach and around Cape Ann

This is a most delightful trip where the landscapes and shore views are unequalled, and the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns is well preserved. The trip Around the Cape follows the rugged coast nearly the entire distance.

Special cars leave the corner of Portland and Hanover Streets every Tuesday and Thursday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.00.

BOSTON TO HISTORIC PLYMOUTH

There are few places in the whole country that have the romantic charm. It is the Mecca of more tourists, probably, than any other one place in New England. Few strangers visit Boston without taking a trip to the little bay town where history was born and made.

Special cars leave Post Office Square, Boston, every Wednesday and Friday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.00.

SHOPPING NEWS

Visitors to this city wishing to secure photographs of public buildings or places of interest should see the large stock carried at the J. H. Thurston shop, No. 50 Bromfield Street, before purchasing.

A novelty in an umbrella, called the "London Club," is shown by Josiah T. Dyer at 34 Boylston Street.

Blanchard, King & Co. at 250 Boylston Street are showing an elegant line of fall neckwear in all the latest colorings.

All the new fall shapes in Knox hats for both ladies and gentlemen are being shown at Hall & Hancock's, 420 Washington Street.

The shops are already showing fall gowns and blouses and the E. T. Slattery Company have some very pretty plaids in quiet colors.

The August furniture sale of the R. H. White Company is the most notable event of the week in bargain giving. It is not confined to furniture alone, but includes a general line of all kinds of house furnishings for the "home beautiful." Purchases are held by them for delivery until October 1 if desired.

Thomas O'Callaghan & Co., 30-38 Summer Street, invite patrons to examine their fall styles of Oriental carpets and rugs. Your particular attention is called to a large-sized Goravan, 14 x 22 feet, in the most beautiful shades of reds, blues and gold.

Meyer Jonasson & Co. are making a display of new Fall Walking Suits.

A place where they make a specialty of artistic designs in cut glass is at the Smith, Patterson shop on Summer Street.

At the Macular Parker Company's everything in men's and boys' clothing and haberdashery is being offered at reduced prices during August.

The suit cases and kit bags sold by H. A. Winship at 16 Tremont Street are excellent in quality and fashionable in style.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The remainder of the theatres which have been closed for the summer months open their fall and winter season on Monday. The majority of the houses have a special Labor Day matinee. The Hollis St. Theatre has for its opening attraction "The Heir to the Hoorah." This is one of New York's last season successes, having had a run of four months at the Hudson Theatre. "Faith Mather" at the Park is a new production, and a Boston man is said to be the author. Eva Tanguay, in "The Sambo Girl," at the Majestic is sure to please all who like snap and action in a musical comedy. Wright Lorimer is at the Colonial Theatre in "The Shepherd King" for one week. This is Mr. Lorimer's third return engagement to Boston in this play. "The College Widow," at the Tremont, continues to draw large houses and undoubtedly will have a long run. Hap Ward, in "The Grafters," remains at the Globe for one more week. De Wolf Hopper opened at the Boston Theatre Saturday in the new comic opera, "Happy Land." The Castle Square opens the season with "Old Heidelberg," and the Empire will have "The Second in Command" as the attraction this week. "The New Eight Bells" at the Grand Opera House, continuous vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard, burlesque at the Palace and Lyceum.

Boston and Brooklyn play two games Monday at the National League Grounds. The Champions return here Tuesday and play a series of four games with the Athletics, closing the week with the Washington club on Saturday.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

Among other things worth seeing is the

TROLLEY EXCURSIONS

THROUGH CARS RESERVED SEATS

Boston to Gloucester, Long Beach and around Cape Ann

This is a most delightful trip where the landscapes and shore views are unequalled, and the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns is well preserved. The trip Around the Cape follows the rugged coast nearly the entire distance.

Special cars leave the corner of Portland and Hanover Streets every Tuesday and Thursday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.10.

BOSTON TO HISTORIC PLYMOUTH

There are few places in the whole country that have the romantic charm. It is the Mecca of more tourists, probably, than any other one place in New England. Few strangers visit Boston without taking a trip to the little bay town where history was born and made.

Special cars leave Post Office Square, Boston, every Wednesday and Friday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.00.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Inauguration Sale of the R. H. White Co., now in its second week, affords New England people the season's first bargain opportunity and a chance to inspect their elegant new furnishings, which have transformed their store into the finest shopping palace in the East.

Noyes Bros., cor. of Washington and Summer Sts., are showing all the newest novelties in their Ladies' Shirt Waist Department, and in their Men's Department the latest patterns in hosiery, neckwear, cuffs, collars and shirts are ready for the fall trade.

The Lamson & Hubbard stores at 229 Washington and 94 Bedford Sts. have their entire fall stock of hats ready for your inspection.

This concern also carry one of the finest lines of furs in this city, and we advise you to see their stock and prices before purchasing.

The Picture Shop at 65 Bromfield St. has the finest stock of colored photographs ever shown in Boston, including many subjects not to be found elsewhere.

A shoe-mending establishment is run in connection with the Coes & Young shoe house, 20 School St., where shoes may be repaired in a reasonably short time at moderate prices.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer St., do a very large wholesale business in diamonds and precious stones as well as retail, thereby enabling them to buy in a much more advantageous way than for retail trade only. They carry one of the most attractive stocks in the trade, and their prices cannot be equalled for the same quality of goods.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, No. 9 PARK STREET, BOSTON,

Invites you to visit its Permanent Exhibition and Salesroom at 9 Park Street (ground floor), where you will find a carefully selected collection of the best modern handicraft work.

TOURS

One of the finest runs for automobiles in Eastern Massachusetts is that between this city and Nantasket. It is an ideal all day trip to leave Boston about 9 A. M., make sixty mile run to Nantasket for lunch, enjoy the fine bathing and other attractive features during afternoon. Have dinner and then a twenty mile run back to Boston over State or Park roads the entire distance. Starting on the run from Boston the route takes one west over Park roads to Brookline and Newton to Wellesley. Here, with a turn to the left, a southerly direction is taken through Needham, Dedham, Hyde Park, Readville, Canton, Brockton and Campello, where an easterly direction is taken through Whitman to Hanover. From this point the route takes a northerly direction through Norwell, Greenbush, Scituate, Egypt, North Scituate and Cohasset to Nantasket.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

Joe Weber's All Star Company opens at the Colonial Theatre Monday in the two musical triumphs, "Higgledy-Piggledy" and "The College Widow." "The Heir to the Hoorah" remains at the Hollis. Otis Skinner opens at the Park Theatre Thursday. Eva Tanguay in "The Sambo Girl" at the Majestic. De Wolf Hopper in "Happyland" at the Boston. "The College Widow" at the Tremont. The Globe has Lottie Williams in "My Tomboy Girl" as the attraction. The Russell Brothers are at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "Imprudence," and "Barbara Frietchie" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vauderville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKinn, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French.

The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavaunes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes.

Among other things worth seeing is the

TROLLEY EXCURSIONS

THROUGH CARS RESERVED SEATS

Boston to Gloucester, Long Beach and around Cape Ann

This is a most delightful trip where the landscapes and shore views are unequalled, and the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns is well preserved. The trip Around the Cape follows the rugged coast nearly the entire distance.

Special cars leave the corner of Portland and Hanover Streets every Tuesday and Thursday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.10.

BOSTON TO HISTORIC PLYMOUTH

There are few places in the whole country that have the romantic charm. It is the Mecca of more tourists, probably, than any other one place in New England. Few strangers visit Boston without taking a trip to the little bay town where history was born and made.

Special cars leave Post Office Square, Boston, every Wednesday and Friday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.00.

One of the finest runs for automobiles in Eastern Massachusetts is that between this city and Nantasket. It is an ideal all day trip to leave Boston about 9 A. M., make sixty mile run to Nantasket for lunch, enjoy the fine bathing and other attractive features during afternoon. Have dinner and then a twenty mile run back to Boston over State or Park roads the entire distance. Starting on the run from Boston the route takes one west over Park roads to Brookline and Newton to Wellesley. Here, with a turn to the left, a southerly direction is taken through Needham, Dedham, Hyde Park, Readville, Canton, Brockton and Campello, where an easterly direction is taken through Whitman to Hanover. From this point the route takes a northerly direction through Norwell, Greenbush, Scituate, Egypt, North Scituate and Cohasset to Nantasket.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

This is the last week of Joe Weber's All Star Company at the Colonial Theatre in the two musical triumphs, "Higgledy-Piggledy" and "The College Widower." "The Heir to the Hoorah" remains at the Hollis. Otis Skinner at the Park Theatre in "His Grace de Grammont." Chauncey Olcott in his new play, "Edmund Burke," at the Majestic. De Wolf Hopper in "Happyland" at the Boston. "The College Widow" at the Tremont. The Globe has Billy Clifford in "A Jolly Baron" as the attraction. Robert Fitzsimmons in "A Fight for Love" is at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and "The Liars" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library, also a new painting by John S. Sargent.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavaunes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes.

Among other things worth seeing is the

TROLLEY EXCURSIONS

THROUGH CARS RESERVED SEATS

Boston to Gloucester, Long Beach and around Cape Ann

This is a most delightful trip where the landscapes and shore views are unequalled, and the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns is well preserved. The trip Around the Cape follows the rugged coast nearly the entire distance.

Special cars leave the corner of Portland and Hanover Streets every Tuesday and Thursday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.10.

BOSTON TO HISTORIC PLYMOUTH

There are few places in the whole country that have the romantic charm. It is the Mecca of more tourists, probably, than any other one place in New England. Few strangers visit Boston without taking a trip to the little bay town where history was born and made.

Special cars leave Post Office Square, Boston, every Wednesday and Friday at 9.00 A. M. Round trip tickets $1.00.

SHOPPING NEWS

Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are offering a new line of choice antique Oriental rugs. The patrons of this house are cordially invited to pass judgment of their selection.

Any one in need of toilet articles of any kind should not fail to see the complete line just received at the Klein Pharmacy, corner Tremont and Boylston streets. They are also showing an entirely new packing in their celebrated Ylang Ylang Cold Cream, which will recommend itself to professional people.

A great glove bargain for early fall wear is being offered by the Wm. H. Richardson Company at 388 Washington St. They have secured all the "left overs" from last spring's goods in the celebrated "Trefousse" kid gloves which they are selling at $1.50 per pair.

The Macular Parker Company, at 400 Washington St., are showing an elegant line of fall overcoats in their retail clothing department ranging in price from $15.00 to $35.00.

The old reliable trunk and bag house of H. A. Winship at 16 Tremont Street are showing something entirely new and novel in a Chinese-made trunk, very light in weight, especially adapted for foreign travel.

Noyes Bros., cor. of Washington and Summer Sts., are showing all the newest novelties in their Ladies' Shirt Waist Department, and in their Men's Department the latest patterns in hosiery, neckwear, cuffs, collars and shirts are ready for the fall trade.

The Lamson & Hubbard stores at 229 Washington and 94 Bedford Sts. have their entire fall stock of hats ready for your inspection. This concern also carry one of the finest lines of furs in this city, and we advise you to see their stock and prices before purchasing.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, No. 9 PARK STREET, BOSTON,

One of the finest runs for automobiles in Eastern Massachusetts is that between this city and Nantasket. It is an ideal all day trip to leave Boston about 9 A. M., make sixty mile run to Nantasket for lunch, enjoy the fine bathing and other attractive features during afternoon. Have dinner and then a twenty mile run back to Boston over State or Park roads the entire distance. Starting on the run from Boston the route takes one west over Park roads to Brookline and Newton to Wellesley. Here, with a turn to the left, a southerly direction is taken through Needham, Dedham, Hyde Park, Readville, Canton, Brockton and Campello, where an easterly direction is taken through Whitman to Hanover. From this point the route takes a northerly direction through Norwell, Greenbush, Scituate, Egypt, North Scituate and Cohasset to Nantasket.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Maid and the Mummy" opens at the Colonial Theatre Monday. "The Heir to the Hoorah" remains at the Hollis. Otis Skinner at the Park Theatre in "His Grace de Grammont." Chauncey Olcott in his new play, "Edmund Burke," at the Majestic. Thomas Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkle" at the Boston. "The College Widow" at the Tremont. The Globe has the Four Mortons in a new play as the attraction. "Fast Life in New York" is at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "Under the Red Robe" this week, and "All the Comforts of Home" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

A fine portrait of the late Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., is among the oil paintings being exhibited at the Doll & Richards Galleries, No. 2 Park Street. Also some very beautiful bronzes by American sculptors, Augustus Saint Gaudens, Daniel Chester French, Richard E. Brooks, R. Tait McKenzie, Bessie Potter Vonnob, Clio Bracken, Katherine Cohen and T. Nelson MacLean.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library, also a new painting by John S. Sargent. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavaunes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes.

Among other things worth seeing is the

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Richard Carle in "The Mayor of Tokio" follows "The Maid and the Mummy" at the Colonial Theatre Monday. Kyrle Bellew comes to the Hollis in his very successful play "Raffles." Otis Skinner remains at the Park Theatre in "His Grace de Grammont." Dustin Farnum in "The Virginian" at the Majestic. Thomas Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkle" at the Boston. "The College Widow" at the Tremont. The Globe has the "Sign of the Cross" as the attraction. "More to be Pitied than Scorned" is at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square has "The Royal Box" this week, and "A Message from Mars" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

King's Chapel Burying Ground — Tremont Street, adjoining King's Chapel. First burying place in Boston; interments as early as 1630. Here lie Governor John Winthrop, Lady Andros, wife of Governor Andros; John Cotton, Governor Shirley, Davenport, Oxenbridge and other early personages, including Major Thomas Savage of King Philip's War fame. Few burials here since 1795. Admission permissible.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library, also a new painting by John S. Sargent. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavaunes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes.

Among other things worth seeing is the

Hewins & Hollis at 4 Hamilton Place are showing a very fine line of fall and winter weight underwear and hosiery, in all the different fabrics and colors.

This week Thos. O'Callaghan & Co. are taking from bond a choice invoice of Oriental Rugs. Patrons of the house are invited to this rare exhibition.

The E. T. Slattery Company at 154 Tremont St., with greatly enlarged facilities, will exhibit their complete autumn collections in their ready-to-wear novelties, millinery and custom departments.

All the new fall shapes in Knox hats for both ladies and gentlemen are being shown at Hall & Hancock's, 420 Washington Street.

L. P. Hollander & Co., dry goods merchants, at Boylston St. and Park Sq., announce the completion of the extensive alterations in their buildings which have been in progress during the past four months and which enable them to present to the public one of the most complete mercantile establishments in the country. Your inspection is cordially invited.

Miss M. F. Fisk at 144 Tremont St. is showing some exclusive things in ladies' gloves, neckwear, veils and belts which are very moderate in price when the quality is considered.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

This is the last week of Richard Carle in "The Mayor of Tokio" at the Colonial Theatre. Kyrle Bellew remains at the Hollis in his very successful play, "Raffles." Thomas W. Ross comes to the Park Theatre in a new play, "A Fair Exchange." "As Ye Sow" at the Majestic. Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead" at the Boston. "The College Widow" at the Tremont. The Globe has Thomas E. Shea in repertoire as the attraction. "The Lighthouse by the Sea" is at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "Mice and Men" this week, and "The Bonnie Brier Bush" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

King's Chapel Burying Ground—Tremont Street, adjoining King's Chapel. First burying place in Boston; interments as early as 1630. Here lie Governor John Winthrop, Lady Andros, wife of Governor Andros; John Cotton, Governor Shirley, Davenport, Oxenbridge and other early personages, including Major Thomas Savage of King Philip's War fame. Few burials here since 1795. Admission permissible.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library, also a new painting by John S. Sargent. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavaunes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes.

Among other things worth seeing is the

SHOPPING NEWS

There is an opening this week at Miss M. F. Fisk's, 144 Tremont Street, of exclusive things in women's gloves, neckwear, ostrich, marabout and liberty stoles, belts and veilings.

The prescription department of the Klein Pharmacy, corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, is the finest in the city and their corps of seven registered men in this department guarantee accuracy and promptness in the filling of all orders.

L. P. Hollander & Co., dry goods merchants, at Boylston St. and Park Sq., announce the completion of the extensive alterations in their buildings which have been in progress during the past four months and which enable them to present to the public one of the most complete mercantile establishments in the country. Your inspection is cordially invited.

Coes & Young at 20 School Street are showing a Cordovan or horsehide blucher at $5.50 which they have made to especially fill a demand for this kind and price of shoe. They guarantee satisfaction, but perchance it don't they always make things right.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are making a very remarkable showing of sterling silver, suitable for wedding gifts in goods of the choicest designs and workmanship and at very reasonable prices. One can get an article suitable for a wedding gift from $1.00 to $500.00 and be sure of thoroughly acceptable goods in whatever the selection may consist of.

The Kakas Brothers, at 179 Tremont Street, have their entire line of imported and American furs ready for your inspection. They are showing some very beautiful fur-lined garments for both men and women, their prices being way below the majority of houses in this line.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, No. 9 PARK STREET, BOSTON,

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Henrietta Crosman comes to the Hollis for a limited engagement in her latest comedy success, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary." Fritz Scheff opens at the Colonial Theatre in the new comic opera, "Mlle. Modiste," by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom. Mr. Blossom is also the author of the American comedy, "A Fair Exchange," in which Thomas W. Ross is starring at the Park Theatre. "The College Widow" remains at the Tremont for two more weeks. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead" at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has Thomas E. Shea in "Napoleon the Great." "Sherlock Holmes" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers Sardou's "Cleopatra" this week, and "Lord Chumley" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

King's Chapel Burying Ground — Tremont Street, adjoining King's Chapel. First burying place in Boston; interments as early as 1630. Here lie Governor John Winthrop, Lady Andros, wife of Governor Andros; John Cotton, Governor Shirley, Davenport, Oxenbridge and other early personages, including Major Thomas Savage of King Philip's War fame. Few burials here since 1795. Admission permissible.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library, also a new painting by John S. Sargent. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

Faneuil Hall. — Merchants' Row and Faneuil Hall Square. "Cradle of Liberty." Built 1742, by Peter Faneuil and given to Boston as a town hall. Burned 1761, and rebuilt. Focus of Revolutionary movement in Boston and the colonies. Used by British officers as a playhouse during siege of Boston. Enlarged 1805, from Charles Bulfinch's plans. Market below, public hall above, and armory of the Ancients over all. Hall has copies of many historical paintings and portraits, originals having been removed to Museum of Fine Arts for greater safety. Armory has collection of relics. Open week days, 9 to 5.

Among other things worth seeing is the

SHOPPING NEWS

V. Ballard & Sons at 256 Boylston Street are showing the new fall and winter, 1905, models, also their new importations of London Tailor Cloths, Paris Dress Novelties in silk, wool and velvet, and a new Broadcloth in all colors, made expressly for them in France.

Monday, October 16, Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. will display at their warerooms, 30-38 Summer Street, a large importation of Oriental Rugs. You are cordially invited to inspect this beautiful collection.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are showing a remarkable line of articles suitable for wedding gifts, not only in sterling silver and cut glass, but also in a very large variety of odd and unusual pieces that are not likely to be duplicated and that would make most acceptable gifts, in prices ranging from the very moderate-priced articles up through to the larger and more important pieces in Royal Vienna and choice pieces of ivory carvings.

All lovers of old china should not fail to see the display of exclusive designs being made this week by the Boston Antique China Exchange at 11 Park Street.

The prescription department of the Klein Pharmacy, corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, is the finest in the city and their corps of eight registered men in this department guarantee accuracy and promptness in the filling of all orders.

The Kakas Brothers, at 179 Tremont Street, have their entire line of imported and American furs ready for your inspection. They are showing some very beautiful fur-lined garments for both men and women, their prices being way below the majority of houses in this line.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Henrietta Crosman remains at the Hollis in her latest comedy success, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary." Fritz Scheff at the Colonial Theatre in the new comic opera, "Mlle. Modiste," by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom. Edmund Breese and Grace Ellison in "The Lion and the Mouse" at the Park Theatre. "The College Widow" remains at the Tremont for one more week. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead" at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has Billy B. Van in "The Errand Boy." "Why Girls Leave Home" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "The Sword of the King" this week, and "Richard Carvel" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

King's Chapel Burying Ground—Tremont Street, adjoining King's Chapel. First burying place in Boston; interments as early as 1630. Here lie Governor John Winthrop, Lady Andros, wife of Governor Andros; John Cotton, Governor Shirley, Davenport, Oxenbridge and other early personages, including Major Thomas Savage of King Philip's War fame. Few burials here since 1795. Admission permissible.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library, also a new painting by John S. Sargent. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

Faneuil Hall. — Merchants' Row and Faneuil Hall Square. "Cradle of Liberty." Built 1742, by Peter Faneuil and given to Boston as a town hall. Burned 1761, and rebuilt. Focus of Revolutionary movement in Boston and the colonies. Used by British officers as a playhouse during siege of Boston. Enlarged 1805, from Charles Bulfinch's plans. Market below, public hall above, and armory of the Ancients over all. Hall has copies of many historical paintings and portraits, originals having been removed to Museum of Fine Arts for greater safety. Armory has collection of relics. Open week days, 9 to 5.

BRAND NEW SUBURBAN SUITES.

Twenty minutes from Boston by trolley, beautiful new suites having every modern improvement, marble entrances, hard wood floors, steam heat, continuous hot water, tiled bathrooms, finely finished throughout; 5 to 7 rooms; $35.00 to $55.00. The best of locations and the best of suites for the money that can be rented to-day.

SHOPPING NEWS

We notice an interesting feature of "Bailey's" (The Children's Store) on Winter Street is that they carry an extensive line of tailor-made Suits and Coats, Evening Dresses and Waists for Misses and Small Women. It is a much-talked about feature, inasmuch as other stores are apt to neglect the small women.

The "Redskin" glove shown by Josiah T. Dyer at 34 Boylston Street is an article of much merit and has found favor with glove buyers generally. It is made nicely of fine imported stock and sells for $1.15 the pair.

The Smith Patterson Company, Diamond Merchants, Jewelers and Silversmiths at 52 Summer Street, carry the largest stock of diamonds and precious stones in New England, and we advise all intending purchasers in this line to see their stock. They invite a comparison of prices.

V. Ballard & Sons at 256 Boylston Street are showing the new fall and winter, 1905, models, also their new importations of London Tailor Cloths, Paris Dress Novelties in silk, wool and velvet, and a new Broadcloth in all colors, made expressly for them in France.

Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are displaying at their waerrooms, 30-38 Summer Street, a large importation of Oriental Rugs. You are cordially invited to inspect this beautiful collection.

All lovers of old china should not fail to see the display of exclusive designs being made this week by the Boston Antique China Exchange at 11 Park Street.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, No. 9 PARK STREET, BOSTON,

Invites you to visit its Permanent Exhibition and Salesroom at 9 Park Street (ground floor), where you will find a carefully selected collection of the best modern handicraft work.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Duchess of Dantzic" comes to the Hollis St. Theatre Monday for a limited engagement. Fritzi Scheff remains at the Colonial one more week in the new comic opera, "Mlle. Modiste," by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom. Edmund Breese and Grace Ellison in "The Lion and the Mouse" at the Park Theatre. Henry W. Savage's celebrated English Grand Opera Company is at the Tremont for a two weeks' engagement. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. Denman Thompson in "The Old Homestead" at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has "Me, Him and I." "Queen of the Highbinders" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers their first Shakespearian production, "Much Ado about Nothing," this week, and "The Unforeseen" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Old Corner Book Store.— Washington and School Streets. Built 1712 as a drug shop by Thomas Crease on site of Ann Hutchinson's dwelling. A bookstore, 1828-1903, and the gathering place of Boston writers. Now Gunaris' candy shop. The Old Corner Book Store is now located at 27-29 Bromfield Street.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

Faneuil Hall.— Merchants' Row and Faneuil Hall Square. "Cradle of Liberty." Built 1742, by Peter Faneuil and given to Boston as a town hall. Burned 1761, and rebuilt. Focus of Revolutionary movement in Boston and the colonies. Used by British officers as a playhouse during siege of Boston. Enlarged 1805, from Charles Bulfinch's plans. Market below, public hall above, and armory of the Ancients over all. Hall has copies of many historical paintings and portraits, originals having been removed to Museum of Fine Arts for greater safety. Armory has collection of relics. Open week days, 9 to 5.

BRAND NEW SUBURBAN SUITES.

Twenty minutes from Boston by trolley, beautiful new suites having every modern improvement, marble entrances, hard wood floors, steam heat, continuous hot water, tiled bathrooms, finely finished throughout; 5 to 7 rooms; $35.00 to $55.00. The best of locations and the best of suites for the money that can be rented to-day.

SHOPPING NEWS

With the approaching cold, clear autumn days the weather man plainly tells us the late summer season is surely over. The attractive exhibit of the latest Paris ideas in ladies' dress displayed in E. T. Slattery Company's windows at 154 Tremont Street are exceedingly tempting and appropriate.

Blanchard, King & Co. are enjoying a large and increasing patronage in their new quarters at 250 Boylston Street. The beautiful and artistic entrance has attracted much attention, as well as their exclusive fall and winter display of goods.

Miss M. F. Fisk at 144 Tremont Street has a most interesting shop. You will find all of the new things in ladies' gloves, odd pieces of fancy jewelry and leather goods and no end of beautiful scarfs, feathers, veils, etc.

The Smith Patterson Company, Diamond Merchants, Jewelers and Silversmiths at 52 Summer Street, carry the largest stock of diamonds and precious stones in New England, and we advise all intending purchasers in this line to see their stock. They invite a comparison of prices.

Filene's are doing something that no other store in the country appears to be doing. Their department of knit underwear is the most complete in Boston, but the interesting feature that is occasioning so much notice is the fact that they embroider the initials of the purchaser on the underwear without charge.

Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are showing a new line of small Cashmere and Daghestan Rugs. The prices on these fine Oriental works of art are the lowest we have seen.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, No. 9 PARK STREET, BOSTON,

Invites you to visit its Permanent Exhibition and Salesroom at 9 Park Street (ground floor), where you will find a carefully selected collection of the best modern handicraft work.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Duchess of Dantzic" remains at the Hollis St. Theatre for one more week. "The Prodigal Son" is at the Colonial. Edmund Breese and Grace Ellison in "The Lion and the Mouse" at the Park Theatre. Henry W. Savage's celebrated English Grand Opera Company is at the Tremont for one more week. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. George Primrose and his big minstrel company at the Boston Theatre for one week only. The Globe has the Rays in "Down the Pike." "For his Brother's Crime" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers Gillette's "Secret Service" this week, and "Two Little Sailor Boys" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Old Corner Book Store.— Washington and School Streets. Built 1712 as a drug shop by Thomas Crease on site of Ann Hutchinson's dwelling. A bookstore, 1828-1903, and the gathering place of Boston writers. Now Gunaris' candy shop. The Old Corner Book Store is now located at 27-29 Bromfield Street.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

Faneuil Hall.— Merchants' Row and Faneuil Hall Square. "Cradle of Liberty." Built 1742, by Peter Faneuil and given to Boston as a town hall. Burned 1761, and rebuilt. Focus of Revolutionary movement in Boston and the colonies. Used by British officers as a playhouse during siege of Boston. Enlarged 1805, from Charles Bulfinch's plans. Market below, public hall above, and armory of the Ancients over all. Hall has copies of many historical paintings and portraits, originals having been removed to Museum of Fine Arts for greater safety. Armory has collection of relics. Open week days, 9 to 5.

BRAND NEW SUBURBAN SUITES.

Twenty minutes from Boston by trolley, beautiful new suites having every modern improvement, marble entrances, hard wood floors, steam heat, continuous hot water, tiled bathrooms, finely finished throughout; 5 to 7 rooms; $35.00 to $55.00. The best of locations and the best of suites for the money that can be rented to-day.

SHOPPING NEWS

Filene's are doing something that no other store in the country appears to be doing. Their department of knit underwear is the most complete in Boston, but the interesting feature that is occasioning so much notice is the fact that they embroider the initials of the purchaser on the underwear without charge.

Beyond dispute the florist par excellence of Boston is Thomas F. Galvin. We were well repaid a visit made to his Tremont Street and Back Bay stores by a sight of the great display of rare orchids and various hued chrysanthemums, American beauty roses, English and Russian violets. The business done is remarkable.

The beautiful Paris model street costumes and carriage gowns shown by V. Ballard & Sons, 256 Boylston Street, and the safety riding habit of their make are attracting those ladies who choose to be smartly costumed.

At the Coes & Young shop, 20 School Street, "style" means more than just "something new." It means that sure touch of the expert designer that removes it from the commonplace. Their fall and winter line of fine shoes is ready for your inspection.

The finest line of antique Oriental rugs ever shown in this city are on exhibition at the Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. store, 30 Summer Street. Their corps of experienced salesmen will give you reliable information that may be of great value in selecting rugs.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer St., do a very large wholesale business in diamonds and precious stones as well as retail, thereby enabling them to buy in a much more advantageous way than for retail trade only. They carry one of the most attractive stocks in the trade, and their prices cannot be equalled for the same quality of goods.

THE SOCIETY OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, No. 9 PARK STREET, BOSTON,

Invites you to visit its Permanent Exhibition and Salesroom at 9 Park Street (ground floor), where you will find a carefully selected collection of the best modern handicraft work.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Maclyn Arbuckle comes to the Tremont Theatre for a limited engagement in George Ade's delightful comedy, "The County Chairman." Lulu Glaser at the Hollis St. Theatre for two weeks in her latest musical comedy success, "Miss Dolly Dollars." "The Prodigal Son" is at the Colonial. Edmund Breese and Grace Ellison in "The Lion and the Mouse" at the Park Theatre for one more week; this is the best and most successful play of the season. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. Last season's big hit, "Babes in Toyland," a musical extravaganza, is at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has Charles Grapewin in his new "John Henry" comedy. "No Mother to Guide Her" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "The Sword of the Kirg" this week, and "The Crisis" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre, Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Old State House — Washington Street, head of State Street. Here the first Town House was built, 1657, in the earliest market-place of Boston. Burned in 1711, it was rebuilt in 1712. Again burned in 1747, the present structure was built in 1748, the walls of the old Town House being utilized. Here met colonial courts and legislatures, the town and city governments, and the General Court of the Commonwealth. In front of it occurred the burning of stamp clearances and the Boston massacre. Here were the whipping-posts and stocks. Building restored in 1882. Bostonian Society collection of relics. 9.30 to 5; Saturdays, 9.30 to 12.

Old Corner Book Store.— Washington and School Streets. Built 1712, as a drug shop by Thomas Crease on site of Ann Hutchinson's dwelling. A bookstore, 1828-1903, and the gathering place of Boston writers. Now Gunaris' candy shop. The Old Corner Book Store is now located at 27-29 Bromfield Street.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Wm. H. Richardson Company, at 388 Washington Street, have just received a beautiful line of house coats and lounging robes made from soft vicuna, knit waistcoats and knit silk scarfs all made for them in London for the holiday trade.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are making a very remarkable showing of sterling silver, suitable for wedding gifts in goods of the choicest designs and workmanship and at very reasonable prices. One can get an article suitable for a wedding gift from $1.00 to $500.00 and be sure of thoroughly acceptable goods in whatever the selection may consist of.

The prescription department of the Klein Pharmacy, corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, is the finest in the city and their corps of seven registered men in this department guarantee accuracy and promptness in the filling of all orders.

Beyond dispute the florist par excellence of Boston is Thomas F. Galvin. We were well repaid a visit made to his Tremont Street and Back Bay stores by a sight of the great display of rare orchids and various hued chrysanthemums, American beauty roses, English and Russian violets. The business done is remarkable.

The beautiful Paris model street costumes and carriage gowns shown by V. Ballard & Sons, 256 Boylston Street, and the safety riding habit of their make are attracting those ladies who choose to be smartly costumed.

At the Coes & Young shop, 20 School Street, "style" means more than just "something new." It means that sure touch of the expert designer that removes it from the commonplace. Their fall and winter line of fine shoes is ready for your inspection.

The finest line of antique Oriental rugs ever shown in this city are on exhibition at the Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. store, 30 Summer Street. Their corps of experienced salesmen will give you reliable information that may be of great value in selecting rugs.

The Macullar Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, are showing an elegant line of winter overcoats in their retail clothing department ranging in price from $15.00 to $50.00.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Maclyn Arbuckle remains at the Tremont Theatre for a limited engagement in George Ade's delightful comedy, "The County Chairman." Lulu Glaser at the Hollis St. Theatre for the last week in her latest musical comedy success, "Miss Dolly Dollars." N. C. Goodwin opens at the Colonial in his new comedy drama, "Wolfville." Arnold Daly's company in Bernard Shaw's comedy, "You Never Can Tell," comes to the Park for one week. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. Last season's big hit, "Babes in Toyland," a musical extravaganza, is at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has Elsie Fay in the "Belle of Avenue A." "The Flaming Arrow" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers Sardou's "Diplomacy" this week, and "The Crisis" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre for one more week. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Old State House — Washington Street, head of State Street. Here the first Town House was built, 1657, in the earliest market-place of Boston. Burned in 1711, it was rebuilt in 1712. Again burned in 1747, the present structure was built in 1748, the walls of the old Town House being utilized. Here met colonial courts and legislatures, the town and city governments, and the General Court of the Commonwealth. In front of it occurred the burning of stamp clearances and the Boston massacre. Here were the whipping-posts and stocks. Building restored in 1882. Bostonian Society collection of relics. 9.30 to 5; Saturdays, 9.30 to 12.

Old Corner Book Store. — Washington and School Streets. Built 1712, as a drug shop by Thomas Crease on site of Ann Hutchinson's dwelling. A bookstore, 1828-1903, and the gathering place of Boston writers. Now Gunaris' candy shop. The Old Corner Book Store is now located at 27-29 Bromfield Street.

SHOPPING NEWS

In the flowery language of De Quincey the little shop at 355 Boylston Street could have been styled "the emporium of the daintiest articles." It is an artistic treat to visit this shop of the Russian Importing Company and see the wonderful handicraft of the Russian peasant.

At the new linen department in the L. P. Hollander & Co.'s store they are showing a line of fine table linen in exclusive designs. Luncheon and dinner sets, fine damask cloths and lace scarf centrepieces in a large variety of patterns at prices to meet the closest competition.

Those desiring to purchase fine cutlery of every description, tool chests for amateurs, and every sort of useful or ornamental hardware will find a choice assortment at Burditt & Williams Co., 4 High Street, corner of Summer Street, the oldest house in this line in the country.

Miss M. F. Fisk, 144 Tremont Street, has splendid things in gloves, fancy jewelry, leather goods, feather boas and veils.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are showing a remarkable line of articles suitable for wedding gifts, not only in sterling silver and cut glass, but also in a very large variety of odd and unusual pieces that are not likely to be duplicated and that would make most acceptable gifts, in prices ranging from the very moderate-priced articles up through to the larger and more important pieces in Royal Vienna and choice pieces of ivory carvings.

Blanchard, King & Co., at 250 Boylston Street, are turning out some exquisite shirt waists and shirt waist suits in their custom department. A look at their new hand embroidered patterns is a treat.

The fur shop at 179 Tremont Street, between Boylston Street and the Tremont Theatre, carry the largest line of fine furs in this city. The Kakas Brothers also do repair work on furs and make fur-lined garments.

Torrey, Bright & Capen, at 350 Washington Street, are showing a line of Wilton carpetings in exclusive patterns. They invite a comparison of prices,

TRUNKS AND BAGS

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Maclyn Arbuckle remains at the Tremont Theatre for a limited engagement in George Ade's delightful comedy, "The County Chairman." E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe come to the Hollis St. Theatre in "The Taming of the Shrew." N. C. Goodwin remains at the Colonial in his new comedy drama, "Wolfville," for one more week. "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots" comes to the Park this week. "As Ye Sow" has scored a big hit at the Majestic. Last season's big hit, "The Wizard of Oz," a musical extravaganza, is at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has Dan Mason in "Gay New York." "The Flaming Arrow" is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. The Castle Square offers "The Prisoner of Zenda" this week, and "Blue Jeans" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Continuous Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Old State House — Washington Street, head of State Street. Here the first Town House was built, 1657, in the earliest market-place of Boston. Burned in 1711, it was rebuilt in 1712. Again burned in 1747, the present structure was built in 1748, the walls of the old Town House being utilized. Here met colonial courts and legislatures, the town and city governments, and the General Court of the Commonwealth. In front of it occurred the burning of stamp clearances and the Boston massacre. Here were the whipping-posts and stocks. Building restored in 1882. Bostonian Society collection of relics. 9.30 to 5; Saturdays, 9.30 to 12.

Old Corner Book Store.— Washington and School Streets. Built 1712, as a drug shop by Thomas Crease on site of Ann Hutchinson's dwelling. A bookstore, 1828-1903, and the gathering place of Boston writers. Now Gunaris' candy shop. The Old Corner Book Store is now located at 27-29 Bromfield Street.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Thanksgiving sale at the R. H. White Company's is attracting widespread interest, both because of the remarkably low prices this firm is making on dependable merchandise, as well as for the timeliness of the sale. This week promises to be unusually interesting, judging from their advertisement.

A strikingly beautiful display of holiday neckwear, gloves, kerchiefs, leather collar and cuff cases, bath wraps, umbrellas, etc., is shown by Josiah T. Dyer, at 34 Boylston Street. He believes in early showing of such goods so that his patrons may anticipate their wants.

We notice an interesting feature of "Bailey's" (The Children's Store) on Winter Street is that they carry an extensive line of tailor-made Suits and Coats, Evening Dresses and Waists for Misses and Small Women. It is a much-talked-about feature, inasmuch as other stores are apt to neglect the small women.

Blanchard, King & Co., at 250 Boylston Street, are turning out some exquisite shirt waists and shirt waist suits in their custom department. A look at their new hand embroidered patterns is a treat.

Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are displaying at their warerooms, 30-38 Summer Street, a new importation of Oriental Rugs for the Holidays. You are cordially invited to inspect this beautiful collection.

In the flowery language of De Quincey the little shop at 355 Boylston Street could have been styled "the emporium of the daintiest articles." It is an artistic treat to visit this shop of the Russian Importing Company and see the wonderful handicraft of the Russian peasant.

At the new linen department in the L. P. Hollander & Co.'s store they are showing a line of fine table linen in exclusive designs. Luncheon and dinner sets, fine damask cloths and lace scarf centrepieces in a large variety of patterns at prices to meet the closest competition.

Those desiring to purchase fine cutlery of every description, tool chests for amateurs, and every sort of useful or ornamental hardware will find a choice assortment at Burditt & Williams Co., 4 High Street, corner of Summer Street, the oldest house in this line in the country.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Mrs. Fiske comes to the Tremont Theatre for a three weeks' engagement in "Leah Kleschna." E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe at the Hollis St. Theatre in "Twelfth Night." "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland" at the Colonial for a limited engagement. "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots" remains at the Park. "As Ye Sow" continues to draw large houses at the Majestic. Last season's big hit, "The Wizard of Oz," a musical extravaganza, is at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has "How Baxter Butted In" for the attraction this week. The Grand Opera House offers Charles T. Aldrich, the well known vaudeville artist in "Secret Service Sam." The Castle Square has "The Climbers" this week. "If I were King" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. Truly Shattuck and her "City Girls" is the feature act at Keith's this week. Burlesque at the Howard, Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Craigie House — 105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759. Washington's headquarters 1775-76. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow House.

King's Chapel — Tremont and School streets. Built 1749, Old English architecture. First Episcopal church in Boston. Here British officers worshipped during siege. Became first Unitarian church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House — Washington and Milk streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Macullar Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, have just put in stock a lot of Winter Overcoats, made from an Oxford mixed Vicuna Overcoating. The garments are of the Chesterfield shape, single breasted, forty-four inches long and made in their own workshops. $30 is the price.

Chandler & Barber at 122-124 Summer Street are showing the finest line of cutlery, chafing dishes, photographic goods, skates, etc., that we have seen, and their prices are certainly very low.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer St., do a very large wholesale business in diamonds and precious stones as well as retail, thereby enabling them to buy in a much more advantageous way than for retail trade only. They carry one of the most attractive stocks in the trade, and their prices cannot be equalled for the same quality of goods.

Filene's are doing something that no other store in the country appears to be doing. Their department of knit underwear is the most complete in Boston, but the interesting feature that is occasioning so much notice is the fact that they embroider the initials of the purchaser on the underwear without charge.

The Wm. H. Richardson Company, at 388 Washington Street, have just received a beautiful line of house coats and lounging robes made from soft vicuna, knit waistcoats and knit silk scarfs all made for them in London for the holiday trade.

The sale at the R. H. White Company's is attracting widespread interest, both because of the remarkably low prices this firm is making on dependable merchandise, as well as for the timeliness of the sale. This week promises to be unusually interesting, judging from their advertisement.

A strikingly beautiful display of holiday neckwear, gloves, kerchiefs, leather collar and cuff cases, bath wraps, umbrellas, etc., is shown by Josiah T. Dyer, at 34 Boylston Street. He believes in early showing of such goods so that his patrons may anticipate their wants.

The E. C. Tarr Co., under the Park Street Church, are showing the finest line of banjo clocks and old china of exclusive pattern ever seen in Boston. You are cordially invited to inspect this collection of rare antiques.

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD

It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Mrs. Fiske is at the Tremont Theatre for a three weeks' engagement in "Leah Kleschna." E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe at the Hollis St. Theatre in "Romeo and Juliet" and "The Merchant of Venice." "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland" at the Colonial for a limited engagement. Joseph Wheelock, Jr., in George Ade's new comedy, "Just Out of College," is at the Park. "As Ye Sow" continues to draw large houses at the Majestic. Last season's big hit, "The Wizard of Oz," a musical extravaganza, is at the Boston Theatre. The Globe has Joseph Murphy in "Shaun Rhue" and "Kerry Gow" for the attraction this week. The Grand Opera House offers "The Eye Witness." The Castle Square has "Lady Windermere's Fan" this week. "If I were King" by the Empire Stock Company at the Empire Theatre. The feature acts at Keith's this week are the Elinore Sisters, Jas. J. Morton, Ed. F. Reynard and Sam Watson's Barnyard. Burlesque at the Howard, Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Craigie House — 105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759. Washington's headquarters 1775-76. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow House.

King's Chapel — Tremont and Schoolstreets. Built 1749, Old English architecture. First Episcopal church in Boston. Here British officers worshipped during siege. Became first Unitarian church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House — Washington and Milk streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

SHOPPING NEWS

A new department that should be of particular interest to dressmakers and tailors has just been opened at the L. P. Hollander & Co.'s store on Boylston Street. This department contains a full line of small wares, notions and dressmaking supplies.

Style demands a shoe that looks well. Service demands a shoe that wears well. Coes & Young shoes fill both requirements. Their shop is at 20 School Street.

Glasscoe, Ladies' Tailor and Habit Maker at 296 Boylston Street, is now having a sale of imported models, likewise a fine line of furs at greatly reduced prices.

A gift of gloves from Miss Fisk's, 144 Tremont Street, has become to many one of the delights of the holidays, as they are up to date in style and fit and wear well.

The E. C. Tarr Co., under the Park Street Church, are showing the finest line of banjo clocks and old china of exclusive pattern ever seen in Boston. You are cordially invited to inspect this collection of rare antiques.

The Wm. H. Richardson Company, at 388 Washington Street, have just received a beautiful line of house coats and lounging robes made from soft vicuna, knit waistcoats and knit silk scarfs all made for them in London for the holiday trade.

The Macullar Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, have just put in stock a lot of Winter Overcoats, made from an Oxford mixed Vicuna Overcoating. The garments are of the Chesterfield shape, single breasted, forty-four inches long and made in their own workshops. $30 is the price.

Chandler & Barber at 122-124 Summer Street are showing the finest line of cutlery, chafing dishes, photographic goods, skates, etc., that we have seen, and their prices are certainly very low.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer St., do a very large wholesale business in diamonds and precious stones as well as retail, thereby enabling them to buy in a much more advantageous way than for retail trade only. They carry one of the most attractive stocks in the trade, and their prices cannot be equalled for the same quality of goods.

DID YOU EVER THINK
 now absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD

It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

SHOPPING NEWS

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods suitable for holiday gifts. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

The Henry Siegel Co.'s store, corner Washington and Essex streets, is radiantly beautiful in its cheery Christmas decorations. Santa Claus offers $1,000 worth of Christmas prizes to the children who visit "Wonderland" (third floor) and write the best letters about its many attractions. The first prize is a live Shetland pony, sleigh and harness.

You will not need any suggestions as to what to buy for Christmas if you look over the immense stock of leather goods and novelties at the Sage Trunk Depot, corner Summer and Kingston streets.

If you have any pictures to be framed for Christmas presents take them to John H. Thurston, 50 Bromfield Street, Room 6. His stock of up-to-date mouldings as well as the price for framing will please you and a prompt delivery is guaranteed.

A gift of gloves from Miss Fisk's, 144 Tremont Street, has become to many one of the delights of the holidays, as they are up to date in style and fit and wear well.

A walking stick, an opera hat or a leather hat box would please most any man, and Hall & Hancock at 420 Washington Street have the most complete line in the city to show you.

You can get all the popular brands of cigars and cigarettes, both in the regular and Christmas boxes for gifts, at the Klein Pharmacy, opposite Hotel Touraine. Their candy department is supplied with fresh goods every day from all the well known makers.

The Wm. H. Richardson Company, at 388 Washington Street, have just received a beautiful line of house coats and lounging robes made from soft vicuna, knit waistcoats and knit silk scarfs all made for them in London for the holiday trade.

If you are looking for odd articles that are artistic and will make useful holiday gifts different from anything obtainable in this country, visit the Russian Importing Co.'s store at 355 Boylston Street.

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
 RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
 RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

There are only two important changes of bills at the theatres this week. At the Tremont Henry W. Savage offers Raymond Hitchcock in Richard Harding Davis' new farce, "The Galloper," and William Gillette comes to the Colonial in his new play "Clarice." George Ade's "Just Out of College," with Joseph Wheelock, Jr., remains at the Park, and Francis Wilson at the Hollis in "Cousin Billy," followed by the one-act comedy, "The Little Father of the Wilderness." The Jefferson De Angelis Opera Company in "Fantana" has scored a big hit at the Boston Theatre. The Empire Stock Company offers the well-known drama, "The Silver King," as the attraction this week at the Empire Theatre. "Fantasma," with the five Hanlons at the Majestic for the last week. The funny musical comedy, "Tom, Dick and Harry," is at the Globe Theatre for its second week, "Ransom's Folly" at the Castle Square and "When the World Sleeps" at the Grand Opera House. The feature acts at Keith's this week are Wormwood's Dog and Monkey Circus, Rosaire and Dorretto, Ed. F. Reynard and John Birch, "The Man with the Hats." Burlesque at the Howard, Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

NOTE. Special Christmas Matinees at all Theatres.

Old South Meeting House — Washington and Milk streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

SHOPPING NEWS

L. P. Hollander & Co.'s Annual Clearance Sale in all departments will commence Wednesday, December 27.

The Wm. H. Richardson Company, at 388 Washington Street, are showing their line of shirtings for the spring and summer of 1906. Also a New Idea in a flannel shirt with a high band collar fastened with a gold safety pin,—the very latest New York novelty.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are showing a remarkable line of articles suitable for wedding gifts, not only in sterling silver and cut glass, but also in a very large variety of odd and unusual pieces that are not likely to be duplicated and that would make most acceptable gifts, in prices ranging from the very moderate-priced articles up through to the larger and more important pieces in Royal Vienna and choice pieces of ivory carvings.

The beautiful Paris model street costumes and carriage gowns shown by V. Ballard & Sons, 256 Boylston Street, and the safety riding habit of their make are attracting those ladies who choose to be smartly costumed.

The fur shop at 179 Tremont Street, between Boylston Street and the Tremont Theatre, carry the largest line of fine furs in this city. The Kakas Brothers also do repair work on furs and make fur-lined garments.

At the Coes & Young shop, 20 School Street, "style" means more than just "something new." It means that sure touch of the expert designer that removes it from the commonplace. Their fall and winter line of fine shoes is ready for your inspection.

The finest line of antique Oriental rugs ever shown in this city are on exhibition at the Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. store, 30 Summer Street. Their corps of experienced salesmen will give you reliable information that may be of great value in selecting rugs.

A new department that should be of particular interest to dressmakers and tailors has just been opened at the L. P. Hollander & Co.'s store on Boylston Street. This department contains a full line of small wares, notions and dressmaking supplies.

If you are looking for odd articles that are artistic and different from anything obtainable in this country, visit the Russian Importing Co.'s store at 355 Boylston Street.

Millar & Weltch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first-class.

TRUNKS AND BAGS

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

At the Tremont Henry W. Savage offers Raymond Hitchcock for the second week in Richard Harding Davis' new farce, "The Galloper," and William Gillette remains at the Colonial in his new play "Clarice." George Ade's "Just Out of College," with Joseph Wheelock, Jr., is at the Park, and John Drew in "De Lancey" is at the Hollis. The Jefferson De Angelis Opera Company in "Fantana" has scored a big hit at the Boston Theatre. The Empire Stock Company offers for the second week the well-known drama, "The Silver King," as the attraction at the Empire Theatre. Lew Dockstader and his big Minstrel Company is at the Majestic. "Under Southern Skies" is the attraction at the Globe Theatre, "Oliver Twist" at the Castle Square, and "A Wife's Secret" at the Grand Opera House. The feature acts at Keith's this week are Sunny South, Gardner and Vincent, Celina Bode, and Taylor Holmes, late of Strongheart Company. Burlesque at the Howard, Lyceum, Palace and Columbia.

Old South Meeting House — Washington and Milk streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

SHOPPING NEWS

Blanchard, King & Co. at 250 Boylston Street are displaying advanced styles in ladies' hand embroidered shirt waist patterns and robes for 1906.

A new department that should be of particular interest to dressmakers and tailors has just been opened at the L. P. Hollander & Co.'s store on Boylston Street. This department contains a full line of small wares, notions and dressmaking supplies.

If you are looking for odd articles that are artistic and different from anything obtainable in this country, visit the Russian Importing Co.'s store at 355 Boylston Street.

Millar & Weltch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first-class.

The Wm. H. Richardson Company, at 388 Washington Street, are showing their line of shirtings for the spring and summer of 1906. Also a New Idea in a flannel shirt with a high band collar fastened with a gold safety pin,—the very latest New York novelty.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are showing a remarkable line of articles suitable for wedding gifts, not only in sterling silver and cut glass, but also in a very large variety of odd and unusual pieces that are not likely to be duplicated and that would make most acceptable gifts, in prices ranging from the very moderate-priced articles up through to the larger and more important pieces in Royal Vienna and choice pieces of ivory carvings.

The beautiful Paris model street costumes and carriage gowns shown by V. Ballard & Sons, 256 Boylston Street, and the safety riding habit of their make are attracting those ladies who choose to be smartly costumed.

The fur shop at 179 Tremont Street, between Boylston Street and the Tremont Theatre, carry the largest line of fine furs in this city. The Kakas Brothers also do repair work on furs and make fur-lined garments.

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are making a very remarkable showing of sterling silver, suitable for wedding gifts in goods of the choicest designs and workmanship and at very reasonable prices. One can get an article suitable for a wedding gift from $1.00 to $500.00 and be sure of thoroughly acceptable goods in whatever the selection may consist of.

The prescription department of the Klein Pharmacy, corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, is the finest in the city, and their corps of seven registered men in this department guarantee accuracy and promptness in the filling of all orders.

The Fur Shop between Boylston Street and the Tremont Theatre is having a genuine clearance sale, the first in eight years. The reduction of twenty to forty per cent in price on their entire stock of fine furs will mean something to patrons who know the Kakas Brothers' reputation in this line.

Blanchard, King & Co. at 250 Boylston Street are displaying advanced styles in ladies' hand embroidered shirt waist patterns and robes for 1906.

A new department that should be of particular interest to dressmakers and tailors has just been opened at the L. P. Hollander & Co.'s store on Boylston Street. This department contains a full line of small wares, notions and dressmaking supplies.

The Macular Parker Company at 400 Washington Street are having their January sale of fine clothing and furnishing goods, and have simply laughed prices in every department.

The Russian Importing Company at 355 Boylston Street are bidding for the patronage of those who are accustomed to things truly artistic. They carry a line of goods that not only beautify the house, but bear every characteristic of quaint art.

There is a special sale of men's shirts at Josiah I. Dyer's on Boylston Street. All this season's goods in the latest cloths and colors at about one-half the regular price during this sale.

DID YOU EVER THINK
how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
We have spent a good deal of money to make it
just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD
It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

IF A MAN'S IN LOVE

THAT'S his business. If a girl's in love, that's her business. If any one is in love with GOOD
PRINTING, that's our business.
We do modern printing at modern
prices. : : : : :

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt opens at the Boston Theatre for a two weeks' engagement which is advertised as her farewell appearance in Boston. Mme. Bernhardt will give eight plays during her first week's engagement, including Wednesday and Saturday matinees, opening Monday night in "La Sorciere." William Collier comes to the Hollis Street Theatre in his new comedy, "The Heart of a Sparrow." This is the first time this play has been produced in America. Miss Marie Cahill is at the Tremont Theatre in the smart musical play "Molly Moonshine." Julian Mitchell's latest musical fantasy, "Wonderland," comes to the Majestic Theatre direct from a four months' run in New York. Edna May is at the Colonial Theatre for the last week in her greatest musical comedy success, "The Catch of the Season." Blanche Walsh has scored a big hit at the Park Theatre in Clyde Fitch's great play, "The Woman in the Case." The Empire Stock Company offers Charles Hawtrey's big London success, "A Message from Mars," at the Empire Theatre. That real funny coon comedian, Ernest Hogan, comes to the Globe Theatre in "Rufus Rastus." The Castle Square Stock Company has "The Merchant of Venice" as the attraction this week at the Castle Square Theatre. "The Confessions of a Wife" is the Grand Opera House attraction this week. The feature acts at Keith's are Herman's Cats and Dogs, Sydney Grant, Hoch Elton & Co., and Dora Pelletier. Burlesque at the Howard, Lyceum, Columbia and Palace.

Old Court House.—Court Street. Built 1833. Here occurred bloody Abolition riots of 1851-4.

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Paul West Company, at 408 Boylston Street, are showing a line of Colonial Antique Furniture collected by one of the greatest living connoisseurs of this art and contains pieces not generally found. All the reproductions which they handle and special order furniture are made in their own factory, including all upholstery work.

The Macullar Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, are making January markdown prices on all broken lots in their men's and boys' clothing and furnishing goods departments.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are making a very remarkable showing of sterling silver, suitable for wedding gifts in goods of the choicest designs and workmanship and at very reasonable prices. One can get an article suitable for a wedding gift from $1.00 to $500.00 and be sure of thoroughly acceptable goods in whatever the selection may consist of.

The prescription department of the Klein Pharmacy, corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, is the finest in the city, and their corps of seven registered men in this department guarantee accuracy and promptness in the filling of all orders.

The Fur Shop between Boylston Street and the Tremont Theatre is having a genuine clearance sale, the first in eight years. The reduction of twenty to forty per cent in price on their entire stock of fine furs will mean something to patrons who know the Kakas Brothers' reputation in this line.

The Russian Importing Company at 355 Boylston Street are bidding for the patronage of those who are accustomed to things truly artistic. They carry a line of goods that not only beautify the house, but bear every characteristic of quaint art.

They are making some sharp reductions in the prices of underwear, hosiery, bath gowns, fancy shirts and street gloves at Dyer's, No. 34 Boylston Street, which ought to interest economical buyers.

Miss M. F. Fisk, at 144 Tremont Street has a most interesting shop. You will find all of the new things in ladies' gloves, odd pieces of fancy jewelry and leather goods and no end of beautiful scarfs, feathers, veils, etc.

Thomas O'Callaghan & Co. are showing a new line of small Cashmere and Daghestan Rugs. The prices on these fine Oriental works of art are the lowest we have seen.

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
 RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
 RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.

IF A MAN'S IN LOVE

THAT'S his business. If a girl's in love, that's her business. If any one is in love with GOOD
 PRINTING, that's our business.
 We do modern printing at modern
 prices. : : : : :

THINGS WORTH SEEING

William Gillette opens at the Park Theatre Monday for one week's engagement of "Clarice." This will be Mr. Gillette's farewell week in Boston. "Veronique," the comic opera in English, with Miss Ruth Vincent and George Edwardes' London company of one hundred people, is at the Hollis. Viola Allen comes to the Colonial Theatre for a two-weeks' engagement in the Clyde Fitch comedy, "The Toast of the Town." This is Mme. Sarah Bernhardt's last week and farewell appearance at the Boston Theatre. Marie Cahill has scored another triumph in her musical comedy, "Molly Moonshine," at the Tremont Theatre. "Wonderland," the fascinating musical fantasy, has scored a big hit at the Majestic. "The Runaways," with George Evans, is at the Globe Theatre. This is one of the New York Casino successes. The Empire Stock Company offers "Shenandoah" as this week's attraction at the Empire Theatre. The Castle Square has "Mme. Sans-Gene." "Child Slaves of New York" at the Grand Opera House. Vaudeville at Keith's and the Howard. Burlesque at the Lyceum, Columbia and Palace.

One of the handsomest conservatories in this country is that of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin on the corner of Boylston and Fairfield streets. It is well worth a visit, not only on account of the architectural beauty of the building, but also for the large variety of rare plants with which it is stocked.

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world; and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library. Photographs of objects in Museum on sale at entrance.

Among other things worth seeing is the

SHOPPING NEWS

Professional people should take advantage of the special sale of make-up boxes at the Klein Pharmacy, opposite Hotel Touraine, all this week. A black enamelled box, with handle, tray, lock and key complete, for thirty-seven cents. This box can be fitted out with everything required as make-up from a full line of Hess, Meyer's or Leichner's goods and the celebrated Ylang Ylang Cold Cream.

They are making some sharp reductions in the prices of underwear, hosiery, bath gowns, fancy shirts and street gloves at Dyer's, No. 34 Boylston Street, which ought to interest economical buyers.

The Fur Shop between Boylston Street and the Tremont Theatre is having a genuine clearance sale, the first in eight years. The reduction of twenty to forty per cent in price on their entire stock of fine furs will mean something to patrons who know the Kakas Brothers' reputation in this line.

At the H. A. Winship trunk and bag store, 16 Tremont Street, they are sole agents for the Chinese made trunk, which is so light and durable that any one going to European or Mediterranean ports this winter should not fail to see them.

The Chandler & Barber hardware house at 124 Summer Street are showing a complete line of both ice and roller skates in all the up-to-date styles. They are also headquarters for sleds, snowshoes, hockey sticks, etc.

The Paul West Company, at 408 Boylston Street, are showing a line of Colonial Antique Furniture collected by one of the greatest living connoisseurs of this art and contains pieces not generally found. All the reproductions which they handle and special order furniture are made in their own factory, including all upholstery work.

The Macular Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, are making January markdown prices on all broken lots in their men's and boys' clothing and furnishing goods departments.

The Smith Patterson Company, at 52 Summer Street, are making a very remarkable showing of sterling silver, suitable for wedding gifts in goods of the choicest designs and workmanship and at very reasonable prices. One can get an article suitable for a wedding gift from $1.00 to $500.00 and be sure of thoroughly acceptable goods in whatever the selection may consist of.

DID YOU EVER THINK
 how absolutely essential to the pleasure of eating is a cheery, homelike atmosphere? We are very proud of the
RATHSKELLER ATMOSPHERE
 We have spent a good deal of money to make it
 just right, and those who dine with us tell us that it was money well expended. There is one thing, however, in which we take even more pride, and that is
RATHSKELLER FOOD
 It is just a little bit better than, a little bit tastier than can be found anywhere else in Boston. And the best part of it is that our prices are a little lower than any other first-class hotel in the city.
